

Metrostyle Railway Map of Southeast Asia

Snapshot 2018

By Noah Gunzinger

Railway Map of South East Asia

This map is based on major current railway lines in operation across South East Asia, projects currently under construction and envisaged future expansions. While some of these projects are visionary and reflect election promises, they all have been discussed in the media at one point. Since political promises come and go, I did not put in the projects I would consider unrealistic at this time.

This map
This map reflects a simplification of railway lines to show connections rather than represent geographical accuracy.
